These necessary correctives keep the blood stream pure, thus avoiding such common troubles as listlessness, poor coat, loss of appetite, eczema, etc., which are directly due to overheated and impure blood.

Two Firsts and Best Cocker Puppy at Edinburgh Championship Show. Winner in Open Black Dog Class, Cruft's, 1934. Best Cocker, Dumbarton Open Show. Three Firsts, Darlington Championship Show. Golfhill Trophy Winner, Scottish Cocker Club Show, 1934. Best Cocker and Best Exhibit bred by Exhibitor at Ayr Show.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COCKER SPANIEL.

THE Cocker Spaniel is very much in fashion at the present time, frequently contributing the biggest entries to important shows, and in the number of registrations at the Kennel Club they are among the leaders. They are essentially working dogs, of much use for rough shooting, and the show points are framed to develop utility qualities. There is no more cheerful little dog than the Cocker, always busy and never bad tempered. The weight most favoured is about 25lb., and within that compass should be compressed a good deal of power. The back not being quite so long as in other varieties of Spaniel, the dog looks more compact and firmly knit. The legs, which have plenty of bone, and are feathered and straight, should be sufficiently short for concentrated power, but not too short to interfere with full activity. Feet firm, round and cat-like. The neck is long, strong and muscular. Shoulders sloping and fine; chest deep and well developed, but not too wide. Back and loins immensely strong and compact in proportion to size. The stern should never be carried higher than in a line with the back, and the lower its carriage and action the better. The coat is flat and silky in texture, with sufficient feather, but not too profuse and never curly. Blacks are very popular, but the other colours are undoubtedly charming. The skull and forehead should be well developed, ears lobular, set low, and well clothed with hair.

MANXMAN OF WARE

(Blue Roan. Born January 4th, 1933).

[Fall]

Sire, Whoopee of Ware.

The Property of—

Swakeley's Farm,

Ickenham, Middlesex.

Telephone: Uxbridge 541.

Manxman of Ware has won innumerable outstanding honours, including Trophies for best of all breeds in Show, the Puppy Criterion, Birmingham Show, and was judged the best Gundog (male) at the People's Show, Olympia.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COCKER SPANIEL.

THE Cocker Spaniel is very much in fashion at the present time, frequently contributing the biggest entries to important shows, and in the number of registrations at the Kennel Club they are among the leaders. They are essentially working dogs, of much use for rough shooting, and the show points are framed to develop utility qualities. There is no more cheerful little dog than the Cocker, always busy and never bad tempered. The weight most favoured is about 25lb., and within that compass should be compressed a good deal of power. The back not being quite so long as in other varieties of Spaniels, the dog looks more compact and firmly knit. The legs, which have plenty of bone, and are feathered and straight, should be sufficiently short for concentrated power, but not too short to interfere with full activity. Feet firm, round, and cat-like. The neck is long, strong and muscular. Shoulders sloping and fine; chest deep and well developed, but not too wide. Back and loins immensely strong and compact in proportion to size. The stern should never be carried higher than in a line with the back, and the lower its carriage and action the better. The coat is flat and silky in texture, with sufficient feather, but not too profuse and never curly. Blacks are very popular, but the other colours are undoubtedly charming. The skull and forehead should be well developed; ears lobular, set low and well clothed with hair.

CANINE HEROES AT CRUFT'S

APART from all the other dogs, you will find some that may be undistinguished in appearance and pedigree, but which have distinguished themselves nevertheless by gaining the highest honour in the canine world . . . the Daily Mirror presentation collar and silver badge with the words "For Bravery." Each of these dogs has saved a human life and in doing so has risked its own. Their brave deeds make wonderfully moving reading, and are described in a free booklet which is given away on the "Brave Dog" stand. Make sure you come and see these canine heroes for yourself.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CLUMBER SPANIEL.

THE Clumber Spaniel, named after the seat of the Dukes of Newcastle, is so different from the rest of the family as to justify the inference that he is a distinct breed rather than a variety. He is more massive in structure, and different in colour and disposition. Unlike the others, he is not the friend of all men, reserving his fealty for his master, and warning strangers not to touch. At the same time, his docility makes him one of the most readily broken for field duties. He may be described as a heavy, square, massive animal, with a thoughtful expression. The weight of a dog may be from 60 lb. to 75 lb. The long and heavy body stands on short straight legs; the chest is wide and deep, and shoulders strong and muscular. Hind quarters very powerful and well developed. Neck thick and powerful, and well feathered underneath. Back straight, broad and long. Head large, square and massive, of medium length, broad on top, with a decided occiput. Heavy brows, with a deep stop; heavy muzzle and deep fangs. The eyes are dark amber, slightly sunk and show the haw. The stern, set low and well feathered, is carried about level with the back. The coat is abundant, short and straight, and the colour is plain white with lemon markings. Orange is recognized, though not considered desirable. Slight head markings with white body are preferred.

IRISH WATER SPANIEL

CH. BREIFNY CHIEFTAIN.
(K.C.S.B. 1079MM).

Breeder and Owner—

F. TRENCH O'RORKE, Esq.,
Breifny House,
Bodmin, Cornwall.

Ch. Breifny Chieftain made his debut at Cruft's Show, 1932, winning the Challenge Certificate, an achievement he has repeated three years in succession, and also at the Kennel Club's Shows, Crystal Palace, three years in succession, and has obtained many First Prizes all over the country, including the Challenge Certificate at Dublin, Belfast and Edinburgh. When a puppy, he ran second at the Irish Water Spaniel Association's Field Trials in 1931, and the following year he obtained a Certificate of Merit in the Open Stake, and was awarded the prize for best performance in the water. This young dog is superbly bred, being a son of the ever-famous Ch. Breifny Count and Ch. Breifny Dovergilla. He is a big dog, possessed of great bone and substance, has a beautiful length of head and foreface, and nice dark eyes, well placed ears and an excellent coat. The ideal Stud dog, especially for the weedy light-eyed bitches, so prevalent.

DESCRIPTION OF THE IRISH WATER SPANIEL.

THE Irish Water Spaniel was known in Ireland at a very early date. History tells us that spaniels existed there B.C. In general appearance he is a short-backed, upstanding, strongly made dog, measuring from 20 to 23 inches at shoulder. Clad in a coat of short, crisp curls, neither woolly nor wiry, and of a rich shade of liver-puce. The head is capacious and not too narrow, and is surmounted by a topknot of long curly hair, coming right down between the eyes to a peak, leaving the temples and face quite smooth; this, with a peculiar length of foreface and a deep square muzzle, eyes comparatively small, dark brown in colour, give it a quaint and very intelligent appearance. The forelegs straight, and are abundantly covered with long curls, somewhat shorter in front than at the back. Long stifles and low-set hocks are characteristic; the latter, well covered with hair at the back, should be smooth in front downwards. The tail is short and quite smooth, tapering to a fine point. The ears are very long, low set, and covered with an abundance of long twisted curls. There is no more useful gundog; a natural retriever, happier in the water than out of it, possessed of excellent nose and tender mouth, and when young easily taught to do anything. In temperament he is a very high-couraged, impetuous dog.

ENGLISH SPRINGER SPANIEL

PROSPECTOR
(Whelped March 26th, 1932).

Sire, Mickymus.

Dam, Marchay City Sheila.

The Property of—

W. S. EVANS, Esq.,

The Old Hall,

Denby, near Derby.

Winner of Challenge Certificate at Harrogate, 2nd in Limit and Open, 1934. Also winner at Belper, Derby, Ilkeston, Staveley, Manchester, Bakewell, Leicester, Codnor, Kettering and many other Shows. In all, Prospector has scored 159 wins.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ENGLISH SPRINGER.

ONE of the most useful of the gundogs because of his handy size, the English Springer has latterly come into well-deserved prominence. Weighing up to 50lb., up to 21 inches in height, and standing on fairly long legs, he is big enough to retrieve comfortably, and able to do any work that is asked of him. He has the privilege of long descent, since it is almost certain that he comes from the old Springing Spaniel that once started the birds for the net, and later performed the same office for the gun. For centuries, therefore, he has been bred with a certain object, and the cumulative force of heredity makes him prized to-day. His admirers speak of him as being a combination of beauty and utility, which is not too high praise. The straight, strong legs, without excess of feathering, are of a practical length. The body is well ribbed-up to a strong loin, and is of medium length. The back is straight or slightly arched, and should never be slack. Excessive length and lowness should be penalised as destroying the balance and rendering him less suited for his work. The shoulders are sloping and free, and chest deep and well developed. The head, which denotes character, shows intelligence. The skull is well developed, with a clearly defined stop, and the muzzle lean, long, and square, with a powerful jaw. Eyes, dark hazel, dark brown, or nearly black. Coat flat or slightly waved, but never curly. Colours numerous.

THE BASSET HOUND

CH. WALHAMPTON NIGHTSHADE.

The Property of—

Mrs. N. E. ELMS,

Fyfield Grange,

near Andover, Hants.

also—Reynalton, Crawley, Sussex.

Telephone: Crawley 79.

One of the most beautiful bitches of her breed.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BASSET HOUND.

THIS handsome little hound has a quality and style that place him in a class by himself. His hound markings, either black-tan-and-white, lemon-and-white, flecked or pied, are very pleasing, and his fine coat takes on a beautiful polish. The body is long and powerful in proportion to the height. Strong loins, and great depth through the ribs. The deep brisket is said to be shaped like a man-of-war. The neck is thick and strong with considerable dewlap. The head, modelled as far as possible on that of the bloodhound, is a distinctive feature, betokening high breeding. It has a pronounced occiput or peak, and is long and narrow, of nearly equal width from peak to nose. The heavy flews meet squarely at the nose, and the brow and sides of the cheeks are profusely wrinkled. The long ears are placed low and when of the desirable fine texture they hang in graceful folds. The deep set eyes show the haw. The forelegs, which are about 4in. long, should fit closely to the chest; from the elbow to knee they incline inward, and then outwards to the large feet. They should be heavily boned. The stifles and hocks are well bent, and the thighs muscular. The stern, coarse underneath, is carried hound fashion. In the smooth variety, which is most general in this country, the coat is fine to the touch. Bassets have wonderful noses, and deep musical voices.

Best in breed 209 1386
BASSET HOUNDS. Judge—Mr. Chris. Houlker.

Will be judged in Ring 4 (Arcade).

DESCRIPTION OF THE BEAGLE.

At one time these gay little hare-hunting hounds were a prominent feature of dog shows, and once more they are beginning to reappear on the show bench. It is a very old breed that has existed in England for many centuries, and in appearance the hounds are distinctive, being by no means a replica in little of Fox-hounds. The head, which is of fair length, is powerful without being coarse; skull domed, moderately wide, with an indication of peak; stop well defined; muzzle not snipy and flews pronounced. Eyes brown, dark hazel or hazel, not deep set or bulgy, and having a mild expression. Ears long, set on low, fine in texture, and hanging in a graceful fold close to the cheek. Neck moderately long and slightly arched. Throat shows some dewlap. Shoulders clean and slightly sloping. Body short between the couplings; well let down in chest; ribs fairly well sprung and well ribbed up, with powerful and not tucked-up loins. Thighs very muscular; stifles and hocks well bent, and hocks well let down. Forelegs quite straight, having substance, and round in bone. Feet round, well knuckled up, and strongly padded. Stern of moderate length, set on high and carried gaily, but not curled over the back. Any recognised hound colour is approved. It is usual to classify them as "not exceeding 16 inches and over 12 inches," "not exceeding 12 inches and over 10 inches," and "not exceeding 10 inches." The smallest are often known as pocket beagles. They may have either smooth or rough coats, but the smooth are much the more general.

THE AFGHAN HOUND

CHOTA SAHIB
(Born January 17th, 1933).

The Property of—

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bhanubandh,
31 Ashley Lane,
Hendon, N.W.4.

Telephone: Hendon 8302.

Chota Sahib created a sensation when he came out at the Irish Kennel Club Show, Dublin, 1934, when he won the Four Point Green Star and was Best in Breed (first outing with his present Owners).

Altogether he has won ninety Prizes, twenty-five Firsts, twenty-nine Seconds, and has been three times Best of Sex in Breed at leading Championship and Open Shows in Breed and Variety Classes.

He is a red with cream feathering; has a well-coupled body, powerful hind quarters, which look like transmitting to his progeny.

DESCRIPTION OF THE AFGHAN HOUND.

SUFFICIENT Afghan Hounds having been registered at the Kennel Club to warrant separate classification and the granting of Challenge Certificates, considerably accelerated progress is to be expected. Of the many foreign breeds that have enriched our domestic canidæ they are probably the most singular in appearance. The longish coats, which extend to the feet of all four legs, the top-knot of long silky hair, the well-feathered ears (pendulous in shape), the smooth face and brow, and the thin tail curving at the tip, are all striking features. The body is of the Greyhound type, but somewhat heavier and not so prominently arched at the loins. The brisket is deep, the belly tucked up, loins muscular. Neck arched, long and graceful, and well let into sloping shoulders. The tail is set low, giving a rounded appearance to the rump. Legs long, with hocks placed very low. Head long, and with scarcely any stop. Eyes dark. Feet longish, and well protected with hair. The usual colour is fawn, sometimes lightish, at others nearly red, and brindles are occasionally seen. Afghan Hounds, having good house manners, make excellent companions. They are of great antiquity, and it is obvious that they have been carefully bred in their own country, where they are highly prized for the sport they show.

Winner of Challenge Certificate at Cruft's three successive years, and innumerable other Prizes. Dam of Nal Kawi, Nal Janzi, Nal Wadhi and other winners.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SALUKI.

THIS charming dog, graceful in outline and altogether unusual in appearance, is probably the oldest representative of the Greyhound family. It is the coursing dog of the Arabs, and is of wide distribution throughout the East. There are variations in colour and size, according to the habitat, and the coat may be smooth or feathered, the latter being the most popular. Moslems usually regard dogs as being unclean, but a Sheikh, asked one day how he could enjoy game that had been picked up by a Saluki, replied: "Salukis are not dogs, they are Salukis and were given us by Allah for our amusement and benefit." It will be noticed that they are of Greyhound shape. The height of a dog may vary from 23 inches to 28 inches, bitches usually being much smaller. The head is long and narrow; skull moderately wide between ears and not domed. The long, drooping ears are covered with long, silky hair, and the legs and tail are feathered. The rest of the coat is smooth, and of a soft, silky texture. Eyes dark to hazel; neck long and supple; chest deep and moderately narrow; shoulders sloping and set well back; forelegs straight with great length from elbow to knee. The feet are not cat-shaped, but are moderately long and very strong. The long tail is carried in a curve. Colours are white, cream, fawn, golden, red, grizzle-and-tan, black-and-tan, or tricolour. The smooth variety is identical, except that it is not feathered.

DESCRIPTION OF THE KEESHOND.

WITHIN the last year or two Keeshonds, exhibited as Dutch Barge Dogs, have attracted much attention by their beauty of coat and form, and they may well become popular. The Keeshond (Dutch), the Wolfspitz (German), and the Pomeranian are all exactly alike in points, differing only in size and colour. The Keeshond should be compact and short-coupled, and have a foxy head with small, erect ears, that are sensible to every sound. The coat should be tremendous, except on head, ears, the front part of the forelegs, and below the hocks. Plenty of feathering. Dark eyes full of expression. The coat must be wolf-coloured, dark, or somewhat lighter, with black tips to the longer outer hairs. Colour on muzzle, round the eyes, legs and tail of a lighter shade. Size of the Keeshond should not exceed 18 inches for dogs, and a trifle less for bitches. On the other hand, the Wolfspitz may be any size over that limit, and the bigger the better. Keeshonds are often kept on the barges of the Dutch canals, always being on deck, where they can have an eye on their master's belongings. They are constantly on the watch, giving warning immediately on the approach of strangers. Many of the barge dogs are smaller, being of intermediate size between the Keeshond and Pomeranian.

THE SCHNAUZER

CH. CRANBOURNE LUPIN.

The Property of:—

Capt. LESLIE WILLIAMS, M.B.E.,
Abbey Lodge,
Chertsey, Surrey.

Tel. 3174.

Winner of six Challenge Certificates. Dam of three Champions. Champion Brood Bitch, 1933.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SCHNAUZER.

THE Schnauzer is an ancient German dog, highly praised for his sterling qualities of outstanding faithfulness and affection towards his master and home, extreme intelligence, and hardy nature. He belongs to the group of herdsmen's and shepherd dogs. Although gay and cheerful, he is entirely devoid of the somewhat hysterical exuberance of the Terrier (to whom he is in no way related), nor is he of those who look for and provoke fights. He is a magnificent killer of rats and other vermin, but has no hunting or poaching instincts, a virtue which is much appreciated by those who live in areas where game is strictly preserved. There are three different sizes of Schnauzers, Giant, Medium, and Toy, but the type, i.e. conformation, coat, colour, etc., is the same for all three. The coat is straight, hard, dense, and wiry, shorter on the ears, legs and paws. The head is long and lean without being exaggerated, eyes dark, with bushy eyebrows projecting well over them. The jaws are strong and powerful, and are furnished with bushy whiskers and beard, which give him the strong, rugged appearance for which he is renowned. He has a deep chest of moderate width, and the length of the body is slightly longer than the height. The tail, which is set on high, is docked short. Colours are pepper-and-salt, or black. Red, light silver-grey, sandy, and fawn shades are looked upon with extreme disfavour as signs of degeneration, and are almost invariably accompanied by the further defect of soft hair. Sizes: Giant (Riesenschnauzer), 22-26 inches at wither; Medium, 17-20 inches; Miniature (Zwergschnauzer), 13½-14 inches.

Winner at the following shows: Colchester, 1933, 3 Firsts Any Varieties, at 6 months old; Kennel Club, 1933, First Open, First Puppy, Best of Breed; L.K.A., 1933 (Members), 4 Firsts, Best of Breed; Cruft's, 1934, First Open, First Puppy; L.K.A., 1934, First Open, First Special Beginners, many cups and specials. Not shown since. Siring most typical puppies.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MINIATURE SCHNAUZER.

Of the three varieties into which Schnauzers are sub-divided those of middle size have hitherto been favoured most by British exhibitors. Efforts are now being made to make better known the Miniatures, which are very popular on the Continent. The height required is from 12in. to 14in. at shoulder, and in colour they should be pepper-and-salt (light or dark speckled), yellow-and-black speckled, black with brown markings or black. A small white spot on the chest is a "beauty-spot" and not a fault. The general impression is that of a thick-set, powerfully-built dog, robust and sinewy, and nearly square in proportion of body length to height at shoulder. The temperament is a combination of high spirits, reliability, strength, endurance and activity. The head is strong and rectangular, diminishing slightly from ear to eye, and again to nose, giving a substantial, box-like effect. Skull fairly broad between ears, its width not exceeding two-thirds of length. Forehead flat and unwrinkled. Neither dish nor down face. Moderate stop. Well-filled in muzzle with heavy whiskers. Lips tight. Eyes medium in size, dark, and having brows arched and wiry. Ears small, V-shaped, set high, and dropping forward close to cheek. Neck moderately long, nape strong and slightly arched. Shoulders sloping and flat. Forelegs straight; chest moderately broad; deep brisket. Back strong and straight, equal in length to height. Hind quarters strongly muscled. Tail set moderately high, docked to three joints and carried erect. Feet round. Coat hard and wiry, neither smooth nor long, but having a slightly rough appearance.

Telephone : Worthing 1405.

Recently imported from Tibet, having been presented to Major Scott-Cockburn by His Holiness the Dalai Lama.

Dzong-Pon, the dog, is a grey and white, and begets puppies of his own perfect type. Dorje Pamo, the bitch, is a lovely golden, and not only are these dogs themselves unrelated, but they have no relationship with any other Apso in this country. They are a charming brace, very true to type, gay and happy, with strong defensive instinct, and faithful companions.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LHASA APSO.

UNTIL 1934 we had both Lhasa Terriers and Apsos, but in that year, on the initiative of the Tibetan Breeders' Association, it was agreed that in future the two should be known as Lhasa Apsos. Apso is the Tibetan word for rough, and is a corruption of rapso, which means a goat. They are small dogs standing on short legs. The forelegs are straight and they and the hind legs are heavily furnished with hair. The feet, which are well feathered, should be round and catlike with good pads. The dogs are equipped with a wealth of coat which is heavy, straight and hard, neither woolly nor silky, of good length and very dense. The colour may be golden, sandy, honey, dark grizzle, slate, smoke, parti-colour, black, white or brown. The length of the body from the point of the shoulders to the point of buttocks is longer than the height at withers. The body is well ribbed up, the loin strong and quarters and thighs well developed. A level mouth is not essential and if there is any unevenness one that is slightly undershot is preferred. The muzzle is of medium length, a square muzzle being considered objectionable. The head is well covered with hair, whiskers and beard; the skull narrow, not quite flat, but not domed or apple shaped; the eyes dark brown; the size variable, but about 10 in. or 11 in. at shoulder.

DESCRIPTION OF THE TIBETAN SPANIEL.

HERE we have a dainty lapdog, sometimes called the King Charles of the East. The breed is supposed to be of great antiquity in Thibet, some saying that it has been kept for centuries in the monasteries. They have many fascinating ways and should appeal to anyone who wishes to get away from the commoner toy dogs. They might almost be described as Pekingese with straight legs, pointed muzzles, and skulls that are not flat. The plume is not so bushy as that of the Pekingese, nor is it carried quite so gaily. It should be carried over the back, however. The coat lies flat, and the mane is not prominent, though there is a good frill round the throat when the dog is in full coat. Head and muzzle of the natural shape. Eyes large and expressive. The feet are well padded with hair. Legs short; back of moderate length. Some weigh as little as 6lb., and others may run up to 15lb. The sleeve specimens are kept in the monasteries as "Prayer Dogs." Colours may be golden red, biscuit or fawn with dark shadings, black, or parti-colour. In fact, nearly all recognized colours are seen in the breed. The little dogs are reputed to be very hardy, and to have a high degree of intelligence. The Tibetans, as a rule, do not exercise great care in maintaining the purity of their different breeds, but most of the Tibetan Spaniels that have been imported into this country have been chosen with discrimination.

Roydon, Essex.

Phone : Roydon 66.

Thoombay is a well-known Prize Winner and now classified in this country and in India as a Tibetan Terrier. Formerly this breed was classified with the Lhasa Terriers.

DESCRIPTION OF THE TIBETAN TERRIER.

TIBETAN TERRIERS make delightful companions, having many engaging ways. Speaking roughly, they might be likened to small Bobtail Sheepdogs. The weight may be from 15 to 30 lbs. An Indian description says that the shortness of back in relation to length of leg, and of forehead in proportion to the rest of skull, the heavy furnishing of head, body and legs, the gaily carried, curled tail, and the general expression combine to give them a merry and bouncing appearance. The skull, of medium length, is neither broad nor coarse, narrowing slightly from ear to eye, not domed, though not absolutely flat between the ears. A marked stop in front of the eyes, but this should not be exaggerated or dishy. The length from eye to tip of nose is about one-fifth or one-quarter less than that from eye to back of skull. Muzzle not broad or massive, but of fair substance. Nose black. Eyes large and rather round, neither prominent nor sunken, dark hazel in colour; set fairly wide apart. Ears pendant, hanging close to the side of cheek, slightly rounded at the tip, not large or coarse. Forelegs straight, length of leg from withers to ground should equal length of back from withers to root of tail. Feet large and round, well furnished with hair between the toes. The dog stands well down on his pads, not up on his toes. Body compact and powerful, but not cloddy. Back short and straight. Tail of medium length, carried in a gay curl over back or slightly to one side, well feathered. Double-coated, the outer long, profuse and fine, but not silky or woolly; long, straight or waved, but not curled. Head well covered with long hair falling forward over the eyes, and a beard on lower jaw. Colour white, golden, cream, grey or smoke, black and parti-colour.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BOSTON TERRIER.

THE Boston Terrier, which is the National dog of the United States, was made in that country from British material. Although it is composed of a mixture of Bulldog and Terrier blood, it will be seen from the photograph that it has been bred on lines very different from those of the Bull Terrier. There is good reason for the popularity of Boston Terriers in the United States. They are charming dogs and make delightful companions and the efforts that are being made to establish them here deserve to meet with success. The American standard requires that the general appearance should be that of a lively, highly intelligent, smooth-coated, short-headed, compactly built, short-tailed, well-balanced dog of medium station, of brindle colour and evenly marked with white. The head should indicate a high degree of intelligence and should be in proportion to the size of the dog; the body rather short and well knit, the limbs strong and neatly turned; tail short; and no feature being so prominent that the dog appears badly proportioned. He should convey an impression of determination, strength and activity, with style of a high order. The carriage must be easy and graceful. Stress is also laid upon the expression which, as indicating a high degree of intelligence, is an important characteristic of the breed. The top weight is put at 25 lb., and it is usual in America to divide the breed into the following categories: Light weight, under 15 lb.; middle weight, 15 lb. and not exceeding 20 lb.; heavy weight, 20 lb. and not exceeding 25 lb. Great importance is attached to the colour and in the ideal the brindle pattern is evenly distributed throughout the body.

Winner of numerous prizes, including 1st, Richmond, 1934, and best of sex, Kennel Club, 1934. Proved sire.

DESCRIPTION OF FINSK SPETS.

THIS charming little dog belongs to an old Finnish sporting breed that is said to have a history extending back many centuries. It is supposed to have been used in hunting by the ancient Finns, and to-day sportsmen shoot over it, working it on such varied game as bears, squirrels and birds. It is particularly useful in locating the big game birds of the country, which, having flushed, it follows until they settle on a tree and there marks for the gun. Since several were imported into this country in 1927 breeders have been attracted, and the prospects are encouraging. The dogs, a pleasing foxy red in colour, are of the Spitz type with prick ears and curly tails. They are sometimes called cock-eared dogs. The Finnish standard describes the head as of medium size with forehead somewhat arched. Muzzle narrow and tapering evenly. Ears mobile, erect and pointed. Eyes of medium size or larger, full of expression, and preferably dark. Back straight and strong. Chest deep. Slightly drawn up at belly. Shoulders comparatively upright. Elbows firm and straight. Hind legs strong, and comparatively straight at hocks. Feet preferably round. Tail curled and pressing on the thigh. Coat on head and front of legs short; longish on body and semi-erect or erect. Stiffer on neck and back. Longer and coarser on shoulders. Feathered on thighs and tail. Soft undercoat. Colour brownish red or yellowish brown on back. Lighter inside ears, on cheeks and underparts. White permissible on chest and feet. Height at shoulder from 16 inches to 19 inches for dogs; from 15 inches to 17½ inches for bitches.

THE ELKHOUND

FOURWENTS DYFRIN
(K.C.S.B. 1763NN. Born January 9th, 1932).
Sire, Ch. Kit. Dam, Fourwents Sigrid (Certificate Winner).

The Property of—
Miss F. J. ESDAILE,
Fourwents,

Telephone: Holmwood 19. Holmwood, Surrey.

Dyfrin has been shown fearlessly under twenty-five different judges at thirty-five Championship and Open Shows, and has never been out of the first four. Winner of two Challenge Certificates, five times Best of Sex, twenty-two Firsts, twenty-one Seconds, six Thirds and two Reserves.

Sire of Fourwents Ejne and the sensational brace, Fourwents Frodi and Fourwents Jonsa.

An exceptionally alert and vigorous dog, with plenty of substance—siring fearless youngsters.

DESCRIPTION OF THE ELKHOUND.

THE Elkhound seems to be one of the coming breeds, a number of kennels having been established within the last few years, and many dogs are being imported from Norway. In general appearance it is a handsome, virile, sporting dog, of compact, medium build, erect pointed ears, a tightly-curling tail and heavy weather-resisting coat. He is not long in the back, but must be muscular, elastic and sinuous in movement, with a deep chest, well-sprung ribs, strong neck, and sturdy limbs. He has to be capable of feats of great endurance, when used in Norway in hunting the elk, but there is less work for him to do now than formerly, the number of elk that may be killed annually having been much reduced. The colour is attractive, being grey of various shades, with black ends to the longer outer hairs. On back and haunches the surface tips of the long hair are usually darker than at the roots, and the ears may be black. The chest, under parts and legs are light inclining to silver-white. Pronounced dark markings below the knees are regarded as a blemish. A dark eye is preferred with a forward outlook; the oblique position, which gives a wolfish expression, being undesirable. They are said to be hardy, courageous, intelligent and sensible, with great independence of character.

ELKHOUNDS.

Judge—Mr. W. Stuart Thompson.

Will be judged in Ring 13 (Gilbey Hall).

Good bone and excellent expression.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CHOW CHOW.

FEW dogs have greater individuality than the Chow Chow. His interest in mankind being restricted to the inmates of his own house, he cannot be termed sociable. There is a quiet dignity about his nature which makes one respect him, but he is not the friend of all men, as most of the Spantels are. His peculiarities extend to his physical characteristics, the black tongue being distinctive. The breed is hardy and long-lived. When most other dogs are declining in years, the Chow is at his best. He is compact, short-coupled and powerful for his weight, which is usually between 40lb. and 50lb. The head has a blunt appearance, the muzzle, of moderate length, being broad, instead of pointed like that of a fox. The skull is flat and broad, surmounted by small, pointed, erect ears, that are placed well forward. This placement helps to give the scowling expression that is so much desired. Chest broad and deep; back short, straight and strong; loins powerful. Forelegs perfectly straight with heavy bone. Feet small and cat-like. In the hind legs the hocks are straight. The abundant coat is dense, straight and rather coarse to the touch, with a woolly undercoat. The colours are very attractive, being whole-coloured, black, red, yellow, blue or white. On the reds the feathering at the back is often lighter in shade. Good blues are much in demand at high prices. The tail is curled, and carried well over the back.

Sire, Ch. Faithful Tramp. Dam, River Girl.

Bred and Owned by—
Miss A. TIREMAN,
Pastorale Kennels,

Phone: Chigwell 298. Chigwell Row, Station: Grange Hill. Essex.

Winner of Dog Challenge Certificate and best Old English Sheepdog in Show at Edinburgh, 1929, Kensington Canine Society, 1930, and Richmond, 1930; and of the Stud Dog Class at Kensington and Richmond.

DESCRIPTION OF THE OLD ENGLISH SHEEPDOG.

IF the Old English Sheepdog were a foreigner recently discovered there is not much doubt that he would be all the rage, for few dogs have greater claims upon the sympathies of dog lovers. The worst that can be said about them is that their coats need daily attention if they are to be kept in good order. The dogs are singularly attractive in their coats of grey, grizzle, blue or blue-merle, with or without white markings. Besides that, they are strong, hardy, and as active as kittens, and their intelligence is of the highest order. They are symmetrically built, being free from legginess, and there is a peculiar elasticity in their gallop. The skull, which is rather square, affords plenty of brain capacity. The jaw is fairly long, strong and square, and there is a stop below the eyes. A long narrow head is regarded as a deformity. Eyes may be either dark colour or wall-eyed. Ears small and carried flat by the side of the head. Forelegs should have plenty of bone, and should be dead straight. Feet small and round. Some puppies are born tailless, but most require docking, which should be done within four days of birth. The neck is fairly long and gracefully arched. Body rather short and compact; ribs well sprung; brisket deep; loins stout and slightly arched, with hindquarters round and muscular. The profuse coat is of hard texture, not straight, but shaggy and free from curl.

This World-Famous Kennel now possesses nine full Champions, as well as many other Challenge Certificate winners.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SAMOYED.

As handsome a dog as one could wish to see, with his compact form and thick, brilliant white coat. Although other colours are permissible, public taste has settled upon the white, and it is unusual to meet with any other. Being a working dog, the Samoyed needs to be strong and active, and he is usually so well put together that every movement is instinct with grace. In his native land he acts as guard, herd or hunter, and more occasionally is put to draught uses. Teams have done excellently in some of the Arctic or Sub-Arctic expeditions. With these multifarious duties in view, breeders aim at producing an animal standing about 21 inches at shoulder, weighing up to 50lb. for males, and 40lb. for bitches, with a back of medium length, and broad and muscular. The stout, straight and muscular legs should be long enough to admit of great depth and breadth of chest, but not so long as to constitute a weakness. Hindquarters strongly developed, stifles well bent. Broad, flat skull. Muzzle of medium length and tapering foreface. Erect ears. Dark eyes. Black nose and eye-rims preferred, but brown or flesh-colour permitted. Thick soft undercoat, through which grow the harsh hairs constituting the outer.

Best bred 1851²⁷³ 1850
SAMOYEDS. Judge—Mr. Sid. Simpson.

Will be Judged in Ring 21 (Gilbey Hall).

DESCRIPTION OF THE POODLE (MINIATURE).

MINIATURE POODLES, which make delightful pets, were first introduced towards the end of last century, when a pair of pale fawns excited much interest at a show. Since then they have been produced in a variety of beautiful colours and anyone who has the pleasure of judging them cannot fail to notice the evidences they furnish of high breeding. They should be a replica in little of the bigger dog, and must not measure more than 15 in. at the shoulder. Those that are even smaller are preferred so long as the Poodle type is retained. Without that diminutiveness is of no account. A Miniature should be active, smart, intelligent and elegant looking, carrying himself as proudly as the bigger dog does. This pride of deportment is one of the features of the breed. The head should be as long, straight and fine as possible, with a very slight stop. The skull is fine, the muzzle long, and not full in the cheek, the eyes oval shaped, very dark and full of fire and intelligence. The ears are long and wide, set low and hanging close to the face. The well-proportioned neck carries the head high and with dignity. The chest is deep and moderately wide, the back very short, very slightly hollowed, and ribs well sprung; feet small and dainty, of oval shape; the forelegs straight with fine bone and muscle, and the hind legs muscular and well bent. Hocks well let down. Tail set on high and carried gaily, but never curled over the back. The coat is very profuse, of hard texture, even length and very frizzy.

The Property of—

Miss E. V. BARNES,

"The Wells" Kennel of Dalmatians,

Tunbridge Wells.

Telephone: 2037.

His wins include Best Dog in Show, British Dalmatian Club Show, 1931. Best Stud Dog, Richmond, 1934. He has not been shown in competition since 1931. Silverden Grandeur is the sire of three of this year's Champions—Ch. Venus of the Wells, Ch. Goworth Rhapsody, and Ch. Countess Paulina, as well as other well-known winning progeny.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DALMATIAN.

DALMATIANS, often known as spotted or plum pudding dogs, passed through a bad time when people gave up their grand equipages, but latterly, thanks to the efforts of a few exhibitors, they have become more general. It is a mistake to suppose that they are only suitable for stables. They are excellent guards, having very deep voices; their coats are easily kept clean and they behave very well indoors. They should have the body points that we expect to find in any sporting breed. They need to be strong; muscular and active; symmetrical in outline, and free from coarseness. The legs, of course, must be absolutely straight, with plenty of strong bone, and the hind legs should carry a lot of muscle. Feet round and tough. It was these qualities that enabled them to run behind carriages for many miles at a time. The head is a fair length; skull flat and broad between the ears, and muzzle long and powerful, with clean fitting lips. The ears, of moderate size, are set on rather high and carried close to the head. Eyes bright and sparkling; dark in those with black spots, and yellow or light brown in a liver-spotted kind. The neck, which is fairly long, should be nicely arched, light and tapering, and free from throatiness. Markings are most important in the show dogs. The spots, whether black or liver, should be as round and well-defined as possible, and distinct one from the other; in size from a sixpence to a florin.

Winner in 1934 of Open Dog, Open Restricted and Challenge Certificate at the L.K.A. Open Dog, Restricted Blue Merle and Best in Breed, Richmond. First, Open Dog and Challenge Certificate, Scottish Kennel Club; and First, Open Dog and Challenge Certificate at the Kennel Club Show. Ch. Laund Lanry remains the unbeaten Blue Merle Smooth Dog of 1934. He stands on the best of legs and feet; his body is deep in brisket, and has a beautifully moulded forehead; flat skull of orthodox leanness in cheek, and is a born shower; is a proved sire.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COLLIE (SMOOTH).

HERE we have an attractive variety that might very well be more popular. Smooth Collies are cleanly built, attractive in shape, hardy of constitution and endowed with all the sagacity of the other sheepdogs. Coat makes such a difference that few people realize they are identical in every respect with the rough Collie except for their clothing. The skull is flat and moderately wide between the ears, gradually tapering towards the eyes. There is only a slight stop. The muzzle is a fair length, tapering to the nose, and must be neither snipy nor lippy. The eyes, from which we get the expression, are of medium size, set somewhat obliquely, of almond shape and brown in colour, except in the case of the merles, when one or both may be blue and white or china. The expression is full of intelligence, and the dog has a quick alert look. The ears are small, moderately wide at the base, placed not too closely together on the top of the skull, nor too much to the side of the head, and carried in a semi-erect manner with tips slightly drooping. The neck is muscular and powerful, of fair length and somewhat arched. The body is rather long with well-sprung ribs, deep chest and loins slightly arched and powerful. Front legs straight and muscular with a fair amount of bone and the pasterns show flexibility without weakness. The feet are oval in shape, the soles well padded, and the toes arched and close together. In the hind legs the hocks are well let down and powerful. The tail, which is of moderate length, is carried low when the dog is quiet, with a slight upward swerve at the end.

Best in breed 293 2033 R 2053
COLLIES (ROUGH). Judge—Mr. A. Watt.

Will be Judged in Ring 16 (Gilbey Hall).

THE BULLDOG

VINDEX VISTAR

(Heavyweight Brindle Pled. Born November 5th, 1931.)

By Roseville Barrystar.

ex Vindex Vivandiere.

The Property of—

Mrs. B. WRIGHT,
The Cliff,

Morton, near Bingley.

Telephone: Bingley 172.

Winner of over 100 Prizes under thirty-four different judges, including: Reserve, Best of Sex, Brighton, 1933; do., Birmingham, 1933; do., Cruft's, 1934; do., Bulldog Club (Inc.) Show, 1934; do., Scottish Kennel Club, 1934.

Winner of Challenge Certificate, Brighton, 1934, and the Four Point Green Star, Irish Kennel Club Show, 1934.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BULLDOG.

THE Bulldog is supposed to represent the national character, being dour, dependable, somewhat phlegmatic, of great courage, and with a solidity and strength that are seldom abused. With his short back and very wide chest he seems to be squarely built. As much as £1,000 has been paid by Americans for a good specimen. The head is a distinctive feature, with its wrinkles and deep indentations. The skull in front of the ears should be equal in circumference to the height at the shoulder. Between the ears the skull should be flat and not rounded. The jaws should be broad and square, the lower projecting considerably in front of the upper and turning up. The large nose should be set back almost between the eyes, which are wide apart; the ears, placed high on the head, should be small and thin, the correct shape being termed a "rose" ear. The stout and strong front legs are placed wide apart, the development of the fore-arms giving them a rather bowed outline; but the actual bone should be straight, bandy legs being a sign of weakness. The muscular hind legs are longer in proportion than the front, which gives the animal an awkward gait. The back, short and strong, needs to be very broad at the shoulders and tapering at the loins, making what is known as a roach back. A real roach, however, is seldom seen, and we have to be content with a pear-shaped body, tucked up at the belly. The stern is set on low and should be carried downwards.

Best in breed 2079 R 2101
BULLDOGS. Judge—Mr. Arthur E. Smith.

Sire, Silver Mystery. CH. GARDENIA.

Mrs. D. W. MITCHELL,

Fod House,

Dunfermline, Scotland.

(Breeder of the world-famed Fod Bull Terriers)

Ch. Gardenia is winner of the Bull Terrier Club's Regent Trophy for the Best Bull Terrier of 1932. Five Challenge Certificates and three times Reserve. Best of Breed in Show six times. Specials include the S.K.C. Gold Medal, 1933, and the Bull Terrier Club's Bronze and Silver Medals. The latest 1934 wins include: First, Open Dog, Best of Sex and Best of Breed, Scottish K.C. First Open Dog, Best of Sex, Challenge Certificate and Bull Terrier Club Bronze Medal, Metropolitan and Essex Show.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BULL TERRIER.

FROM being a common fighting dog of the pit, the Bull Terrier has been transformed into a shapely gentleman, and in the process he has suffered no depreciation of courage. Of later years he has become a fitting inmate of any home, being a devoted companion and the friend of all little people. In one respect there has been an enormous improvement. At one time deafness was prevalent, but owing to the action of the Bull Terrier Club and the self-denying practice of breeders, this defect has largely disappeared. The head is one of the most conspicuous features of the breed. In profile it should be down-faced, almost forming an arc from the occiput to the nose and the line is not broken by stop or indentation. The forehead must be filled right up to the eyes. The forehead is fairly flat and not domed between the ears. The forehead is longer than the forehead, and the muzzle should show great strength. The ears are small and thin, placed on the top of the skull fairly close together and are either erect or semi-erect, the former carriage being preferred. The body shows enormous power and activity. It should be short with great muscular development, the shoulders strong and muscular, although free from lumber, and there should be no dip at the withers. Chest broad and deep and ribs well sprung. Legs should have plenty of bone without being coarse and should be perfectly straight. The tail, thick at the root and tapering to a fine point, is carried horizontally.

The youngest Airedale Champion. Winner of Challenge Certificates at the Joint Terrier, Blackpool, National Airedale, Sheffield, Richmond, Metropolitan and Essex, and the National Terrier Show, 1934. Reserve for Certificates at Taunton and Midland Airedale Terrier Show, and Best of Sex at Cheltenham and Bournemouth.

DESCRIPTION OF THE AIREDALE TERRIER.

THE modern Airedale Terrier is the result of a cross made in Yorkshire some sixty years ago, probably between a sporting local Terrier and the Otter Hound. Even now, coarse, ugly ears sometimes appear, although they should be small in proportion to the size of the dog, and V-shaped. The back should be short, strong and straight, and the ribs well-sprung. Legs perfectly straight with plenty of bone and feet small and round. Eyes small and dark, and neck moderately long and thick without any throatiness. Long head, flat skull, but not too broad between the ears. No fullness of cheek, and scarcely any stop below the eyes. The jaw deep and powerful, well filled up before the eyes. The tail is set on high and carried gaily without being curled. About half the tail is removed when they are docked. The coat should be hard and wiry and not long enough to appear ragged. It should lie straight and close. The body colour may be black or dark grizzle, with tan on legs, head and ears. As with all Wire-haired Terriers, the coat is sometimes soft and fluffy, which is an objectionable feature. The ideal weights are from 40lb. to 45lb. for dogs, bitches slightly less. The Airedale makes an intelligent and faithful companion, and is an ideal guard. Until Alsations became so popular on the Continent many Airedales were trained for police dogs; their high courage and good sense peculiarly adapting them for these duties.

DESCRIPTION OF THE KERRY BLUE TERRIER.

WITHIN the last few years this old-fashioned looking Terrier has advanced by leaps and bounds. For several years before the war it had been realized that the familiar red Irishman was not the only Terrier of his country, but it is only latterly that efforts have been made to put the blue dog into the position that his merits seem to justify. He has an appearance entirely his own, carrying rather a profuse coat, which is soft to the touch. As the weight is from 30lb. to 35lb. the dog would be a nasty customer to tackle, and it is said that he is afraid of neither man nor beast. Gentle with children and the other inmates of his house, he is a devoted guard. The Irish use him in all sorts of sport. It is even said that he will combine the work of a Setter and Retriever. The head is long, and flat over the skull; jaw very strong and deep; eyes dark brown or dark hazel. The body is of moderate length, with straight strong back; loins broad and powerful and deep; hindquarters strong and muscular, with powerful thighs; front legs straight, with plenty of bone. Up to the present the colour, although nominally blue, has varied a great deal, some nearly black dogs being exhibited. The Dublin Club have decided that more attention should be paid to colour, the endeavour being to get a light silver, dark silver, or inky blue. Up to the age of eighteen months slight tan markings are allowable, but after that age they should disappear.

The Property of—

Captain WICKS,

Homestead Kennels,

St. Catherine's Farm,

Howlett Lane, Ruislip,

Telephone: Ruislip 475.

Middlesex.

The world-famous sire. He is getting Champions and winners with such regularity that he must figure on every blood line in the future. Sire of:—Ch. Avon Peddler, Ch. Kipyard Jakin, Ch. Valeford Georgette, Copper of Notts, Pamina, Stewton Selection, and others too numerous to mention.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FOX TERRIER (SMOOTH).

THE Smooth Fox Terrier is one of the gentlemen of the canine race, being clean built, smart, and brimful of quality. Few breeds are more universally popular, and good specimens are worth a great deal of money. For the best, £500, or even more, is not considered excessive. There is a vast difference between the aristocrat and the commoner. A good one is put together on the lines of a weight-carrying hunter, having bone and strength in a small compass, without clumsiness or coarseness. Legs must be of the right length—neither too long nor too short. Though his back is short, straight and strong, he stands over a lot of ground, and he should be up on his toes all the time, full of fire and dash, with stern carried gaily. A flatness terrier with the manner of a lapdog is an abomination. He should be big enough to run with hounds, and small enough to go to ground. Weight is somewhat deceptive, but about 18lb. is desirable. Two famous champions are only 16lb., but they look to be more. Contrast the head with that of a common terrier. The skull is flat, instead of rounded, moderately narrow, and gradually decreasing in width to the eyes. The jaws are strong and muscular, instead of short and pointed. The small, dark eyes are rather deep set. The front legs are dead straight, showing scarcely any ankle, and strong in bone. Feet, small, round and compact; coat, smooth, hard, dense and abundant.

Dam, Tanyard Thebie.
(by Ch. Talavera Simon).

Breeder and Owner—

Mrs. JOHN H. ABEL,

Tanyard Kennels,

Hildenborough, Kent.

This predominant wire of 1934 was first shown at the age of 8 months, and during his nine months' Show career, won six Challenge Certificates and eighty-five First Prizes.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIER.

THE Wire-haired Fox Terrier is the counterpart of the Smooth, with the exception of the coat. This is what is known as broken, and the texture cannot be too hard and wiry. A dog should neither look nor feel woolly, and there should be no silky hair about the skull or elsewhere. Nor should the coat be long enough to give a shaggy appearance. Those who have merely had experience of companion terriers will probably consider these remarks as being a counsel of perfection, and when they study the exhibits they will be in despair. Most of them are put down to the moment, but it should be understood that they have received the attention of experts skilled in the art of preparation. Whether the trimming is excessive or not is usually a debatable point, but a capable Judge will not be deceived into failing to recognize a bad coat. The object of trimming is to accentuate the outlines of the body, and display the shape of the head, neck and legs. Consequently, it has to be done carefully after a critical study of the animal. The neck will look longer and better if much of the hair is taken off, especially where it is set into the shoulders. Fringes should be removed from the ears; little coat is wanted on skull and cheeks, but it should remain on the forehead, and the whiskers should be left. Smarten up the legs, and shorten over the loins.

Sire, Salismore Major.

Winner of numerous Prizes at Open and Championship Shows in his first season, including Best Puppy in Breed, Joint Terrier and L.K.A.; and Second Puppy at the National Terrier and Kensington Canine Shows; also Second in Open at Windsor Show.

DESCRIPTION OF THE DANDIE DINMONT.

THE Dandie, named after the well-known character in Scott's "Guy Mannering," is a charming companion, and his deep voice gives intruders the impression of coming from a much bigger animal. His head looks big for his size, though it should not be out of proportion. The profuse, soft, silky hair on the crown accentuates this peculiarity. The lighter in colour and the silkier it is, the better it is liked. The jaws are powerful, equipped with formidable teeth that will kill rats with celerity. The rich, dark, hazel eyes betoken intelligence and dignity. The ears are set low and hang close to the cheeks. The neck is muscular and well developed. The body is long and flexible with well-sprung ribs and round chest, the latter being well let down between the forelegs. The back, rather low at the shoulders, arches over the loins and then makes a gradual drop. The tail is curved like a scimitar. The hind legs are short and very strong, being well equipped with bone and muscle. The hind legs are a trifle longer and are placed rather wide apart. The coat, from the skull to the root of the tail, is a mixture of hardish and soft hair, which gives it a plying feeling. That on the under part of the body is light in colour and softer. Colours may be either pepper or mustard; the former ranging from a dark bluish black to a light silver grey. Mustards vary from a reddish brown to a pale fawn.

Sire, St. Margaret Monty.

Dam, Windygae Delight.

Breeder and Owner—

Miss W. G. ALLEN,

Windygae Kennels,

Warmwell,

Winner of many First Prizes at most of the principal Championship and Open Shows. A proved sire of exceptionally promising puppies.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SEALYHAM TERRIER.

CONSIDERING that they have not been before the public seriously for more than about fifteen years, the position reached by Sealyhams is remarkable. Those who remember the diversity of types that prevailed may well be amazed at the uniformity now apparent, although breeders are not yet unanimous concerning size. Sealyhams are essentially sportsmen; they were boomed into favour on account of their prowess in badger digging, and it is to be hoped that they will never degenerate into lapdogs. The late Captain Edwards produced this strain of Terriers purely for sporting purposes, and their pluck remains unimpaired. The Sealyham is not a Wire-haired Fox Terrier on short legs. His skull is wider between the ears, the jaw is more powerful, and the body is longer. The weight is about the same, but the coat is harder and more profuse. Eyes are dark brown or dark hazel. The neck is fairly long, thick and muscular, and the chest is broad and deep, being well let down between the legs. Ribs are well sprung, and the hindquarters are very strong. The body should be sufficiently long to be flexible. The legs should be short and as straight as possible, and the feet round and cat-like with thick pads. Colour is generally all white, or white with lemon brown or badger-pied markings on head and ears. Measurements are not very helpful in appraising the merits of a dog, but it may be said that the best height is from 8 inches to 12 inches at the shoulder.

The Famous Ilmer Sealyhams

The property of
MAJOR JOCELYN LUCAS, M.C.

10 Dogs at Stud including a champion, a certificate winner, litter brother to a champion, other big winners, sires of winners, also several active miniatures, 10-14 lbs.
FEES £2.2.0—£4.4.0, OR BY ARRANGEMENT.

Judge a kennel by its bitches. The brood bitches include a champion, the litter sister to a champion, and the dam of a champion, though this kennel rarely shows.

We try to combine brains with looks, character with type and breeding. Nearly a score of British and foreign champions have come from these kennels. We also breed active sporting miniatures.

Film fans who saw Major Lucas's sporting pack on the news reel recently will not be surprised to know that 90% of the adults are workers, either with the pack, with a gun, or to fox or badger.

Parson Jack Russell Working Terriers also at stud and for sale. Export (both breeds) world over. Puppies, all ages, always for sale.

VISITORS INVITED AND CAN BE MET IN TOWN OR AT BUSHEY TUBE STATION.

In 1934 winner of eight Firsts, eight Specials and Gold Medal for Best Dog, Northern Counties Scottish Terrier Club Show. Three Firsts and Challenge Certificate, Bath. Four Thirds, Blackpool. Second in Limit and Reserve Open Dogs, Windsor. Winner of Silver Trophy for Best in Show at Durham and Northumberland Club Show. One First, two Seconds and Third Open Dogs, Harrogate. Two Firsts and Challenge Certificate, Brighton. Second in Limit and Third in Open, Scottish Kennel Club. Two Firsts and Challenge Certificate at Birmingham.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SCOTTISH TERRIER.

ALL the Terriers of Scotland stand on very short legs, being needed for tackling foxes amid the tumbled masses of rocks in which they find refuge. The Scottish Terrier, still frequently called the Aberdeen, was one of the first to receive the attention of scientific breeders, who have succeeded in producing a very attractive little fellow. He is powerfully built for a Terrier of compact formation. The shortness of the coat makes him appear somewhat higher on the leg than is actually the case. The head is long, with punishing jaws. Small eyes of a dark brown or hazel colour. Ears small and erect, pointed at the tips. The neck is short, thick and muscular, but set strongly into the sloping shoulder. Chest comparatively broad, and deep in proportion. Body of moderate length and rather flat-sided. Legs short and very heavy in bone; the front ones being straight and set well under the body. They should not turn out at the elbows. In the back legs the hocks should be bent and the thighs very muscular; feet strong and small. The tail is never docked. The coat is rather short, being about 2 inches long, very hard and wiry in texture and dense all over the body. About 18lb. is the preferable weight for dogs. Colours, steel or iron-grey, black-brindle, brown-brindle, grey-brindle, black, sandy or wheaten. They are excellent house dogs and thoroughly good sportsmen in every respect.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIER.

THE West Highland White Terrier is not a white Scottie in appearance, but he has a closer affinity to the Cairn, except in colour, which should be pure white, although it often has a creamy or yellowish tinge. He is strongly built for his size, which should be from 14lb. to 18lb. for dogs. Deep in chest and back ribs; straight back and powerful quarters on muscular legs. He is a combination of strength and activity; both these qualities being needed to enable them to tackle fox or otter in their rocky fastnesses. These Terriers were used for sporting purposes long before any attempt was made to exhibit them. As show dogs they were unknown until the present century, when the sporting kennel owned by Colonel Malcolm, of Poltalloch, began to be talked about. They are expert ratters, good for any kind of vermin, and, at the same time, pleasant companions. The head is of the familiar foxy type, and the jaws powerful. Ears small, erect, carried tightly up, and ending in a sharp point. Broad or large ears are very objectionable, nor should they be covered with much hair. Legs are short and muscular; the hocks bent and set well in under the body. Cow-hocks are objectionable. The tails, which are not docked, should be 5 or 6 inches long, and are carried gaily without being curled over the back. Long tails are disliked. The outer coat is of hard hair, about 2 inches long, and devoid of curl. The undercoat, which resembles fur, is short, soft and close.

LINTOX SCORES AGAIN!

DISTEMPER . . .

. . . Lintox is a splendid tonic. One of my customers who breeds Pekingese has had distemper in her kennels. One valuable dog died. She did not then know about LINTOX. She is now never without it, and remarked that if she had known of it before, she is sure the other dogs would not have contracted it. Her dogs are all now in perfect condition.

LISTLESS & SICK . . .

Another customer came to me for advice. Her dog was listless, sick and had diarrhoea. I recommended Lintox. She came in a few days after, delighted that her dog had so quickly recovered. He is now well and full of life.

WOULD NOT EAT . . .

My own lovely Cocker Spaniel was very bad one morning. I think he must have caught a cold. He would not eat or drink. I had to force the Lintox down his throat. The next day he ate just a very little raw steak. He gradually improved. He is now well and eats well. I really do think the Lintox put him right, or I should say, saved him.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) MRS. E. E. MANSFIELD.

This unsolicited testimony provides still further proof that as a Tonic and a Distemper cure Lintox has no equal. Regular dosing will keep your dogs fit and free from Distemper. If you should have any difficulty in obtaining Lintox, write to

THAT "X" ON SPRATT'S

MEANS THE HALLMARK

writes
Mrs. Ferdinands,
the well-known dog breeder.

IT IS IMpossible to conceive a more glowing testimonial than Mrs. Ferdinands'!

Only the very peak of perfection in dog foods could earn such praise. And, as to the worth of that praise, one need only examine this famous breeder's long list of successes.

The wise dog lover—whether owning a large kennel or just one pal-dog—looks for the X on his dog foods.
That mark not only assures him the finest diet for his dog, but safeguards him against the many imitations which are the penalty of fame.

DOG FOODS

SPRATT'S PATENT LIMITED, 58 MARK LANE, LONDON, E.C.3

Caldharbour,
Near Dorking,
Surrey.

Dear Sirs,
We all have early associations—among mine were :

Spratt's and Dogs. In my childhood I was intrigued by that "X" imprinted on Spratt's Dog Biscuits with which the keeper in those early days fed our sporting dogs.
In answer to my query as to the meaning of X, he explained that it was the Hallmark of excellence.

In my long experience of dog breeding and rearing —and I have owned all manner of breeds—I had ample opportunity to confirm the old keeper's tribute to Spratt's Dog Foods. In my own particular breed, the pug, I found none better than Spratt's Dog Foods.
Since proper feeding contributes in no small degree to success in the show ring, I feel I owe a large share of that to Spratt's Dog Foods. Further, it is fortunate for us dog owners and breeders that there exists such a firm as "Spratt's" which specializes in and provides the correct diet for each breed.

Yours faithfully,
JOYCE PROWETT FERDINANDS.
